SB-6103

Crisis Leadership & Executive Decision-Making

Define who is actually in charge during a crisis, and exactly what they're allowed to decide, before the moment arrives.

SIMPLE. PRACTICAL. TRANSFERABLE.

Why This Matters

In the first minutes of a real crisis, the operational team usually knows what to do. What's far less often defined is who has the authority to make the decisions above that level.

Crisis Leadership & Executive Decision-Making answers a narrow, specific question: who is actually in charge during a crisis, and what are they allowed to decide. Deliberately not messaging (Crisis Communications, SB-6104) and not tactical response (Incident Response, SB-5101) — this is the authority those two systems execute under.

What's Inside the Full System

SB-6103 is a complete 10-section operating system — Policy, Standard Operating Procedure, Roles & Responsibilities, Forms, Checklists, an Audit Tool, a KPI Dashboard, an Executive Summary, and an AI Prompt Pack — built to be implemented, not just read.
