SB-7101

Security Officer Training

Turn a new hire into a competent, certified officer — and keep every officer current, not just onboarded once.

SIMPLE. PRACTICAL. TRANSFERABLE.

Why This Matters

An officer's competence at post is a direct product of the training they received before standing it alone, and how current that training has stayed since. Most guard forces get day one right, then training quietly stops.

Security Officer Training makes competence provable, not assumed — core curriculum, post-specific onboarding, a refresher cadence, and certification tracking. Sits on top of state licensing and vendor training, not a replacement for either.
